

Consider the following factors and determine how important they are. Change and delete from the list, and add to the list as necessary. If several factors are of high importance, rank them numerically.

Factor	Importance			# rank
	low	med	high
Living arrangements (“lock and leave” or conventional home)
Relatively low cost living arrangements and lifestyle
Where to live (the location, the climate, and the culture)
Proximity to family members (parents, children, grandchildren)
Proximity to close friends; ability to make new friends
Health care and access to health care facilities and services
Amenities and access to personal activity facilities
Meaningful work, including part-time and volunteer work
Extensive travel (ease of arrangements and airport access)
Financial security and comfort (having “enough” money)
Ability to be involved with and contribute to “community”
Commonality of spirituality / religious beliefs and practices
